

What are the vital aspects of german shepard long hair?

This can be regarded as a very popular question among a large number of dog lovers these days. As we all know, dogs are extremely innocent as well as faithful and people love having them as pets. Some even treat these dogs as their family members. Some give them immense love and care and treat them like their very own kids. Here, we will be discussing the vital aspects regarding the german shepard long hair. Now, it is evident that people love dogs a lot. When it comes to getting a dog, different people might have different preferences as well as requirements. There are different breeds of dogs that are currently available and each one has their very own peculiar characteristics as well as traits. Thus, it is highly recommended that before getting a particular dog, you should do proper research regarding various essential aspects related to them. This will help you in choosing the best option as per your personal preference. It will also help the dog to get the best possible home. Here, we will be providing a detailed overview of this particular breed. Thereafter, we will be looking at some of the essential facts regarding this breed. So, without further delay, let's get into our discussion of these dogs.

The german shepard long hair

The classic German Shepherd is also known as the GSD. This acronym stands for German Shepherd Dog. This particular breed is regarded as one of the most popular purebred dogs in the United States. According to the American Kennel Club, German Shepherds are considered as the second most popular dog in America, sitting just behind the infamous Labrador Retriever. They are especially popular for their intelligence. In addition to that, they have an eager-to-please nature, and stunning beauty. The German Shepherds serve not only as excellent family companion dogs, but they also perform a number of service works. These include military work, police work, therapy work and more. The different coat colors in which they are available are black, red and black, white, black and tan, sable, black and silver, grey, etc. They are considered as loyal, intelligent, affectionate, people-oriented, and athletic. But the prospective owners should keep in mind that they might suffer from a number of health conditions like Hip Dysplasia, Elbow Dysplasia, Epilepsy, Bloat, Hemophilia, Cataracts, Diabetes, Degenerative Disc Disease, Cancer, Urinary Tract Infections, Dental Disease, Bladder Stones, Thyroid Problems, Allergies, Pancreatitis and Nose Infections. Thus, this can be regarded as a detailed overview of these dogs. Now, let's take a look at some of the essential facts regarding this breed.

Essential Facts

In this section, we will be looking at some of the essential facts regarding the german shepard long hair.

1. The long haired German Shepherd's luscious locks are definitely attractive, but this characteristic is actually a breed defect. Because of this defect, the long haired German Shepherd is regarded as ineligible for shows or competitions.

2. The long haired GSD does not have a double coat and this feature sets this dog apart from the classic German Shepherd dog.

3. They require plenty of training and socialization. Without proper training and socialization, they can become anxious, destructive, and even develop serious behavioral issues.

4. They are extremely playful, affectionate and protective of their families. This feature makes them excellent additions to homes of anyone looking for a guard dog.

Conclusion

Thus, from our discussion of the topic, it can be concluded that the german shepard long hair can be regarded as a great option for all the prospective buyers out there. With proper training, they can make an incredible family dog.